

Digimap® News

August 2015

In this Newsletter:

Geology Roam gets new maps
Building and Land Height data in CAD format
Points of Interest Data now available

Geology Roam gets new maps

...and you can now order the legend by the age of the rocks.

You can now view several new datasets in Geology roam, including detailed 1:10,000 scale maps and offshore geology. You can also reorder the Active Legend to be by Rock Age.

READ MORE

Building and Land Height data in CAD format

Download 3D buildings and contours as DWG files

The two critical datasets for creating a 3d Urban Landscape are now available directly in DWG format for use in CAD software. There is no need for any conversion the data will open directly in the software.

READ MORE

Points of Interest Data now available

4 Million features for the whole of Great Britain

Ordnance Survey's Points of Interest (PoI) data is now available from Data Download. The data contains millions of features in classes such as Retail, Transport, Education and Health ready to display on your map.

READ MORE

Ordnance Survey data refreshed

OS data Products in both Data Download and Roam have been updated:

More details about Roam...
More details about Download...

Boundary-Line gets new layers

Ordnance Survey have added historical and ceremonial counties to their Boundary-Line data product:

READ MORE

Free Webinars

There are more webinars coming up in October, for a full list have a look at the EDINA events page:

EDINA Events

Follow Us:

0131 650 3302
edina@ed.ac.uk
<http://digimap.edina.ac.uk/>

EDINA, 160 Causewayside,
Edinburgh, EH9 1PR

You are receiving this Newsletter because you are registered to use the Digimap service. To ensure that this newsletter is delivered to your inbox, add DIGIMAP-ANNOUNCE@jiscmail.ac.uk to your address book.